

Raspberry Pi
Foundation

Enabling all young people to realise their full potential through

Consent

Details

About

This website uses cookies

Websites use cookies to help them remember things. Cookies are small text files that are placed on your computer or mobile phone when you browse websites. We need cookies to make our website work and so we can find out how people use it.

Use necessary cookies only

Allow all cookies

Why kids still need to learn to code in the age of AI

A position paper from the Raspberry Pi Foundation

Philip Colligan, Mark Griffiths, Veronica Cuculat

June 2025

Consent

Details

About

This website uses cookies

Websites use cookies to help them remember things. Cookies are small text files that are placed on your computer or mobile phone when you browse websites. We need cookies to make our website work and so we can find out how people use it.

Learn to code

Consent

Details

About

This website uses cookies

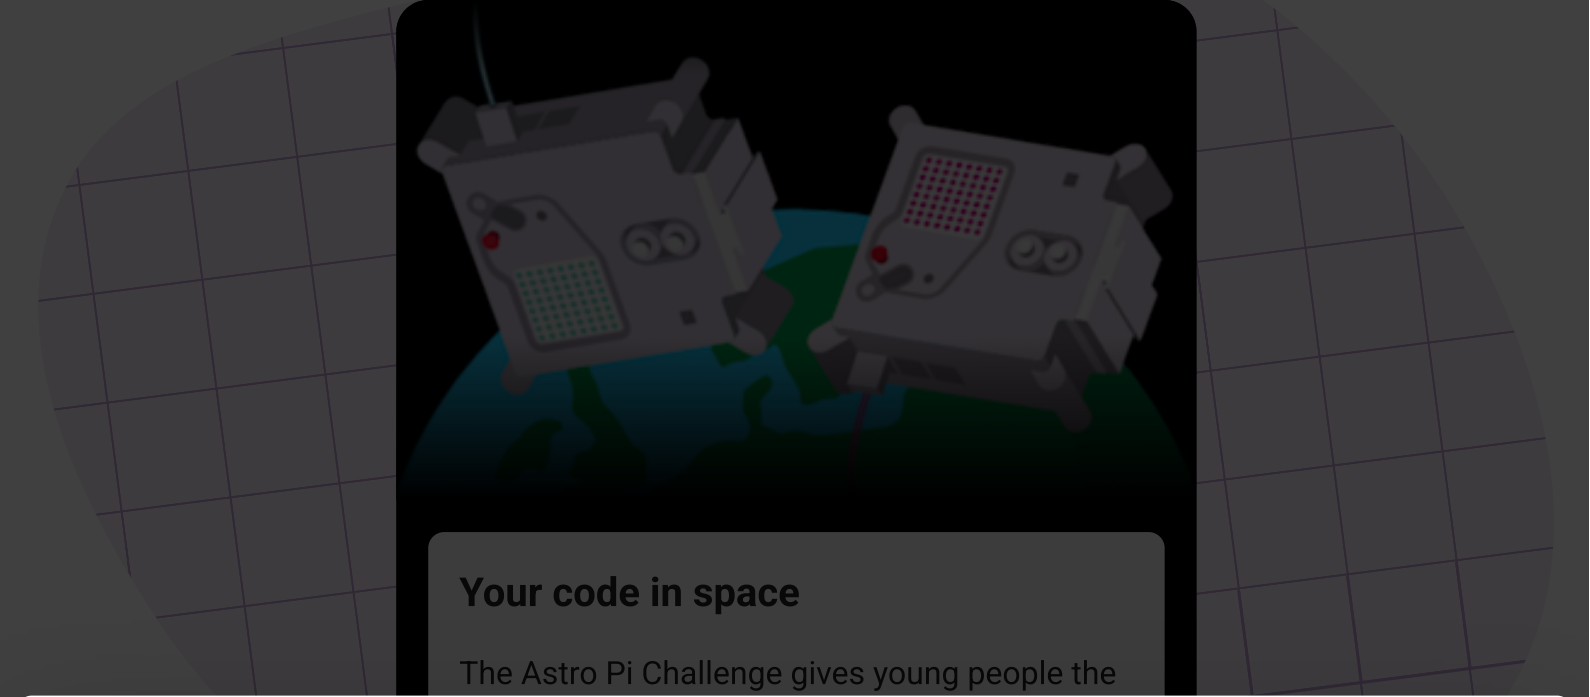

Websites use cookies to help them remember things. Cookies are small text files that are placed on your computer or mobile phone when you browse websites. We need cookies to make our website work and so we can find out how people use it.

Coollest Projects

Online showcases and in-person events for young tech creators to share their projects, get feedback, and be inspired.

View showcase gallery

Your code in space

The Astro Pi Challenge gives young people the

Consent

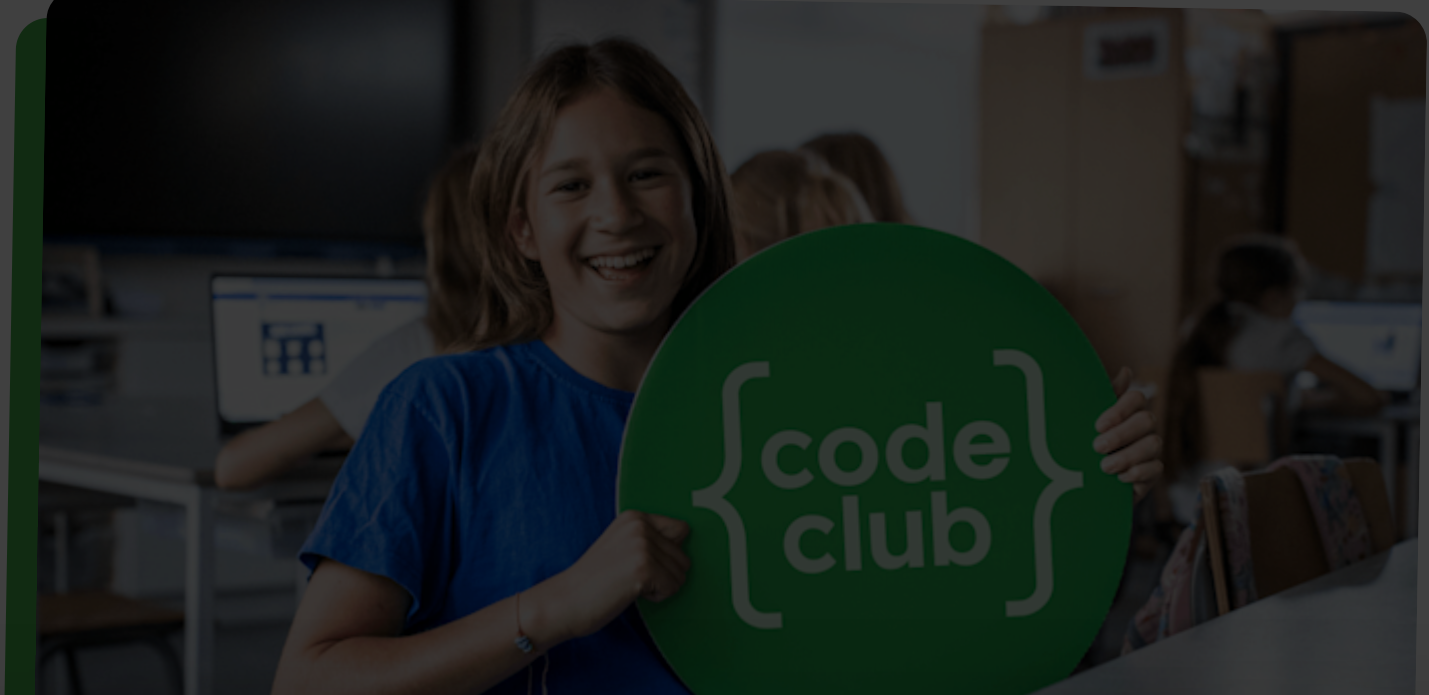

Details

About

This website uses cookies

Websites use cookies to help them remember things. Cookies are small text files that are placed on your computer or mobile phone when you browse websites. We need cookies to make our website work and so we can find out how people use it.

Visit Code Club

Consent

Details

About

This website uses cookies

Websites use cookies to help them remember things. Cookies are small text files that are placed on your computer or mobile phone when you browse websites. We need cookies to make our website work and so we can find out how people use it.

The Computing Curriculum

A complete set of evidence-based classroom resources to teach computing.

Experience AI

Lessons and practical activities to help young people understand AI and how it is changing the world.

Code Classroom

A free, safe platform for teaching and learning computing in schools.

Experience CS

A free, integrated computer science curriculum.

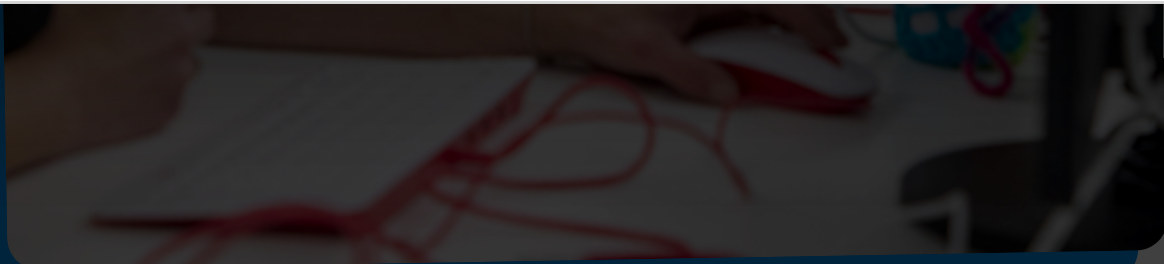

Consent

Details

About

This website uses cookies

Websites use cookies to help them remember things. Cookies are small text files that are placed on your computer or mobile phone when you browse websites. We need cookies to make our website work and so we can find out how people use it.

Research

Discover insights from the world's leading computing education research, including teaching and learning of programming, gender balance, culturally relevant pedagogy, and AI education.

Explore our research

Consent

Details

About

This website uses cookies

Websites use cookies to help them remember things. Cookies are small text files that are placed on your computer or mobile phone when you browse websites. We need cookies to make our website work and so we can find out how people use it.

Supporting a technical AI-focused qualification for young people in England

25th Aug 2026

RESOURCES

Keep coding when your internet drops: Offline support in the Code Editor

20th Aug 2026

EDUCATION

COMMUNITY

How to improve students’ problem-solving skills using subgoal labels

13th Aug 2026

Celebrating the community: Douglas and Oasis Mathare

11th Aug 2026

See all blog posts

“When I started coding, I started to discover

Consent

Details

About

This website uses cookies

Websites use cookies to help them remember things. Cookies are small text files that are placed on your computer or mobile phone when you browse websites. We need cookies to make our website work and so we can find out how people use it.

Read transcript

Watch more stories

Raspberry Pi computers

From industries large and small, to the kitchen table tinkerer, to the classroom coder, Raspberry Pi Holdings plc make computing accessible and affordable for everybody.

Visit raspberrypi.com

Consent

Details

About

This website uses cookies

Websites use cookies to help them remember things. Cookies are small text files that are placed on your computer or mobile phone when you browse websites. We need cookies to make our website work and so we can find out how people use it.

For educators

The Computing Curriculum

Ada Computer Science

Experience AI

Experience CS

Online training courses

Hello World magazine

Research

For learners

Code Club

Explore our projects

Astro Pi

Coolest Projects

Policies

Safeguarding

Accessibility

Privacy

Consent

Details

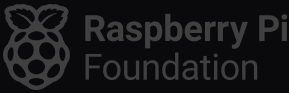

About

This website uses cookies

Websites use cookies to help them remember things. Cookies are small text files that are placed on your computer or mobile phone when you browse websites. We need cookies to make our website work and so we can find out how people use it.

The Raspberry Pi Foundation is a UK company limited by guarantee and a charity registered in England and Wales with number 1129409. The Raspberry Pi Foundation Group includes Hello World Foundation trading as Raspberry Pi Foundation Europe (Irish registered charity 20812), Raspberry Pi Foundation North America, Inc. (a 501(c)(3) nonprofit), Raspberry Pi Educational Services

Consent

Details

About

This website uses cookies

Websites use cookies to help them remember things. Cookies are small text files that are placed on your computer or mobile phone when you browse websites. We need cookies to make our website work and so we can find out how people use it.